A READER'S GUIDE TO CONTEMPORARY LITERATURE

Some selected representative Press Opinions on the Second Edition of "THE BEST BOOKS."

1100 pages, 4to, cloth extra, 31s. 6d. nett ($9 nett).

Academy: "This new edition will command a still wider popularity, for there can be no question of its immense superiority as a careful and extremely well-edited bibliography. The most important feature is its classification. He evinces a talent for bibliographical classification which is extremely rare."

Anti-Jacobin: "A book which, in all senses of the word, is one of the weightiest of our generation. . . . That any single man should undertake such a labour is wonderful enough, but much more wonderful is its triumphant accomplishment."

Athenæum: "The second edition is a distinct advance on its predecessor, and of its predecessor frequent use gave us a high opinion. It is a book which even a man of great learning may be glad to consult, and a man beginning to learn will find invaluable. The volume does Mr. Sonnenschein infinite credit, and proves him to possess a wide and sound knowledge of books."

Bookseller: "Deserves nothing but unqualified praise."

British Weekly: "It is the reader's guide. Already a reference-book in all English-speaking lands, it will in its new and greatly improved form take a place from which it will not be dislodged."

Daily Chronicle: "An exceedingly useful and valuable publication."

Daily News: "It has been, and is, of the greatest service to multitudes of people engaged in literary, scientific and artistic research. An extraordinary performance. Of all the books of reference in the British Museum, Mr. Sonnenschein's Guide appears to be most in request."

Glasgow Herald: "The new edition is a distinct advance on its predecessor—valuable though it was. The volume is one without which no library of any pretensions can be said to be properly equipped."

Globe: "Lovers of the library agree in considering [it] one of the very best bibliographies ever framed. A comparison with the first edition shows what a long and arduous labour the author has devoted to its development."

Journal of Education: "We gave a hearty welcome to the first edition, which appeared in 1887; and the second edition, which, though not greatly increased in bulk, has nearly double the number of entries, deserves no less high commendation."

Library Review: "That admirable work, The Best Books, has turned out the thorough success that its great merit so well deserves."

Literary World: "We are not surprised at the success of the venture, which has been very great. Speaking for ourselves, we cannot be too grateful for the assistance we have obtained from the first edition, and we have to express warm acknowledgment for a work that, taken as a whole, is the most perfect of its kind in existence, and one simply of inestimable value to book-buyers of all classes."

Literary World, Boston: "It was recognised on its first appearance as the most widely useful bibliography in our language. He has now brought out a second edition, much enlarged, of which it would be difficult to speak too highly as regards its accuracy, comprehensiveness, and fairness. The brief notes explaining the special nature of the most important books are numerous and judicious."

Manchester Examiner: "A work of such tremendous industry, such admirable arrangement, and such incalculable usefulness."

Nature: "The idea is excellent, and has been excellently carried out. Mr. Sonnenschein may be congratulated on the manner in which his task has been accomplished. Two separate indexes add greatly to its value."

Newsagent: "The classification is most complete, although a marvel of simplicity. It is unquestionably one of the most important books of the year."

Notes and Queries: "To the excellence of Mr. Sonnenschein's system and to the value of his work we have before testified. The amount of information is only less exemplary than its accuracy. No bibliographical library can be without the new edition, and there are few students and workers whose labours will not be lightened by a reference to its pages."

Pall Mall Gazette: "The result of Mr. Sonnenschein's herculean labours is a guide from which the student or general reader may at any moment discover the 'best books' concerning the subject in which he is for the time being interested. . . . There can be no doubt that he has produced a work of the greatest usefulness to students, literary men, and journalists—to all, in fact, who know how to use and appreciate a good book. Indeed, taken altogether, Mr. Sonnenschein's 'Guide' is as perfect as any merely human and 'one man' book can be; and no student or booklover who can afford a guinea and a half should be without it."

Publishers' Circular: "This new edition of his admirable work almost amounts to a new book. It is a wonderful and monumental testimony to Mr. Sonnenschein's energy and enterprise, and no one with any knowledge of bibliography can fail to be struck by the immense labour involved in its production and the mass of information which it provides. . . . A book of reference conceived on such admirable lines and carried out with such conscientiousness and thoroughness."

Review of Reviews: "Undoubtedly the most useful book of the year, compiled with a care and accuracy it would be impossible to surpass. Every branch of knowledge seems to be represented, and the arrangement as a whole leaves nothing to be desired. The most complete, most trustworthy, and most indispensable guide to good literature that has ever been made: a monument of wide and varied knowledge and of patient and unremitting industry."

Scotsman: "Useful as the work proved in its original form, it is likely to prove more than doubly so in this greatly improved issue . . . invaluable to anyone who is hunting for books on a special subject . . . it will soon be in every-day consultation among bibliographers."

Speaker: "The arrangement deserves unqualified praise, for it is both admirable and ingenious."

Spectator: "It is at once one of the most useful and needed of books. . . . A work which not only displays great industry and unusual thoroughness, but which is calculated to be of much value to every reader and student who wishes to know what recently published books are to be found in any department. . . . The excellent index of subjects—to which, as well as to the index of authors, we can give unqualified praise."

Times: "Evinces a monumental industry."

Westminster Review: "One of the most complete and useful books of reference for literary people that we have ever seen. Its usefulness cannot be overstated; it is invaluable. A marvel of patient industry and skilful classification."

"If the sentence of a judge ever await anyone, to condemn him to hardships and punishments, let neither the penitentiary weary him with the manufacture of the raw material, nor let the ores dug from the mines hurt his hard hands; just let him compose a Lexicon. PREFACE

THIS work was originally designed to form a First Supplement to the second edition of The Best Books, which was published in March, 1891. But a considerable change of plan has been necessary, owing to my inability to obtain anything like a perspective view of current literature, and the rapidity with which my work, in so far as it is critical, has had to be done. My original intention was from time to time—perhaps every five years—to have added supplements to the main work, carrying it on within the same scope and with a similar degree of inclusiveness and of exclusiveness. But it has not proved to be feasible, for altogether apart from the question of selection, I have found it quite impossible to form a "personal acquaintance," even though partly by proxy, with all the more important new books; and, after some futile attempts, I have had to resign myself to the preparation of a mere record of practically all new publications in book-form which came within my scope and which seemed to me to have any lasting value at all, special prominence having been given to subjects of the day: to this I have added brief characterizations, where it has seemed to me desirable, and where it has been within my power. By this means I hope to place the student and the general reader who desires to prosecute his studies, as far as current literature is concerned, in a position to form his own judgment on the material available, though a mere tyro will not find the book of much value as a Guide to Reading, which was my original starting-point. With regard to the characterizations which I have added, I think it right to say that a very large number of them represent little more than the general consensus of opinion of the most trustworthy scientific reviews. "In a multitude of counsellors there is wisdom," and part of my function has been to digest—with an unfettered mind and sinking all personal bias—the verdicts of the best reviewers, though in cases of doubt I have not always contented myself with this: in a number of cases I have made personal inquiries and received personal reports from specialists, both British and foreign,[1] and have, in general, used all the somewhat extensive means within my control to get the common opinion of competent authorities, where such has seemed of moment. Under no circumstances can hasty critical judgments of books, made, even by experts, within a few months or even years of publication, be of much permanent value—at any rate those of the present compilation do not profess to be so; nor must the relative proportions assigned to them be taken to indicate the relative importance of the books they deal with. It is probable that a somewhat more eclectic survey than the present would have met the requirements of the majority of those likely to consult the book; but in a work of this kind the greater the exclusiveness the greater the difficulty of its preparation, and I have comforted myself with the hope that superflua non nocent.

In another respect this book differs somewhat from its predecessor. It includes some entries of "bad" books, more especially where their authors' names are not unknown. In all such cases, however, I have sought to indicate their quality, and to warn readers off them—an unnecessary proceeding for those whose tastes are "booky," but useful for others, I hope, more particularly in these days when much "puffing" occasionally leads to large sales and pseudo-reputations. I have also used this Supplement for addenda to the main work, limiting such entries, however, to essential additions: books which should have been, but were not, included in the previous volume.

This work is more comprehensive than The Best Books in a few other respects. It supplies the American as well as the British publishers' names and the American as well as the English prices of all books of which editions have been published in both countries. And in cases where Series of books, quâ series, will be of interest to possible purchasers, these have been inserted collectively as well as distributively over the volume. Such series, however, as are mere jumbles of disconnected works, uniformly bound for trade purposes, are not so treated. A few other minor improvements, which will be self-explanatory, have been introduced; but in general structure the book is identical with its predecessor, and may be taken to "run on at the foot of it."

A matter to which special attention needs to be drawn is that all the "Classes" into which the work is divided are not co-terminous in point of date. This was also the case in The Best Books. Whilst one "Class" was at press, I have continued my work upon the next; and thus each "Class" is less "up to date" than its successors, though its literature is continued from the date at which it terminated in The Best Books. An unscientific method, from a strictly bibliographic point-of-view; but one which will nevertheless make the book a little more useful to some students. The drawback to this method is, moreover, somewhat diminished by my having inserted, as freely as I could, announcements of books which were in preparation, some of which had actually appeared by the time that later "Classes" were printed off. Before "Class H," it should be stated, few books of 1894 were in time to be included; from that "Class" onwards the characterizations become fewer and further between.

One of the commonest pitfalls in bibliographic work lies in the difficulty of identifying all authors with all their works dealt with. I have taken great pains in this respect, distinguishing writers of the same Christian and surname both in the body of the book and in the Index, even at the cost of not following the description of an author given on his title-page. The hard-and-fast bibliographer follows title-pages exactly,[1] thereby at times perpetuating mere authors' vagaries or publishers' mistakes; and my attitude towards scientific bibliography in this respect must be taken as typical of my point-of-view in similar matters throughout the book. In spite, however, of the trouble I have taken, I have been disappointed to find, when preparing the Index for press, that many slight, if not misleading, errors of this very kind have crept in. I believe, however, that they are all rectified in the Index, which must be taken, in this regard, as controlling the body of the book.

[1] The British Museum, amongst other libraries, adopts this plan, which in one of its recent catalogues has led to some incongruous results, e.g., the late Francis William Lauderdale Adams figures in it firstly as Adams (Francis), author of Australian Life, John Webb's End, The Melbournians and The Songs of the Army of the Night; secondly, as Adams (Francis William), who has to be contented with the authorship of Henry and Other Tales; and thirdly, as Adams (Francis William L.), to whom Australian Essays and Leicester: an autobiography are credited.

One remark I should specially like to add. Let no one take this book more seriously than it is intended, in spite of its formidable appearance. It is but the attempt of an otherwise busy man to afford students a ready means of keeping au courant with the latest literature, conveniently classified. A perfect Guide could have been prepared only by a combination of specialists with a very strong editor, all working without remuneration: an ideal devoutly to be wished but unlikely to be achieved. With the temerity, perhaps, of a non-expert, I have done what I can, as well as I can, with a result, however, which does not satisfy even myself; but in the quaint words of a writer of the early part of the seventeenth century, "Who faulteth not, liueth not: who mendeth faults is commended: the printer hath faulted a little: it may be the author oversighted more"; and my thanks will be gratefully rendered to all who, in using my book, may discover errors worth pointing out and acquaint me with them, or who may make suggestions for the improvement of future Supplements.

Conscious as I am of my shortcomings I can only plead with old Anthony à Wood that, "A painfull work it is, I'll assure you, and more than difficult, wherein that toyle hath been taken as that no man thinketh, and no man believeth, but he that hath made the triall." (Preface to his History of Oxford)

LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS

DATES in the last column of the page are the dates of publication. In cases where more than one edition has appeared, the date of the first edition is put in square brackets, that following being the date of the last edition. All dates omit the two figures representing the nineteenth century, but previous centuries are given in full.

PUBLISHERS' NAMES in round brackets after a non-English Town-name are the names of the London agents for the book in question.

AUTHORS' TITLES in square brackets before their initials imply that such titles were acquired after they had written the book named; e.g., Hampden, [Bp.] R. D. Scholastic Philosophy.

* before a book or part of a book implies that it is considered to be of exceptional importance or value, at least for the section in which it occurs with an asterisk.

AUTHORS, TITLES AND SUBJECTS INDEX.

The numerals refer to the PAGES.

The Title-entries are limited to Anonymously-published Books the Authors of which are unknown, not commonly known or uncertain; and to Series of Books with a collective name. Quite unimportant anonymous books of which the titles sufficiently indicate their character are not indexed at all, as being more naturally sought under their Subjects. Pseudonyms are cross-referenced.

The SCHEME OF ABBREVIATIONS is as follows:—

Complete Ideal Specimen:—Smith, John Essays (two) 750 (763, 790); Studies 751 [Art of Writing 780, On Taste 170].

(1) The word within round brackets immediately following the title [(two)] indicates the NUMBER OF BOOKS under titles so abridged which occur on the page immediately following [750];

(2) The first numeral after the title [750] represents the FULLEST or most important ENTRY OF THAT BOOK;

(3) Numerals in round brackets [(763, 790)] represent INCIDENTAL ENTRIES of the entire book. They are occasionally worth turning up, as giving clues to the contents of the book;

(4) Titles and numerals within square brackets [Art of Writing 780] represent PARTS OF BOOKS ENTERED SEPARATELY. They follow immediately after the entire book of which they form part.

d'ALVIELLA, Cte. Goblet Origin and Growth of the Conception of God [Hibbert Lectures 1891] 8° 10/6 Williams / $3 Scribner, N.Y. 92

Its design is to give continuity to the anthrop. and histor. accounts of the manifestations of religion, fr. a constructive pt. of view, and fr. this developmt. to deduce some forecast of the future of religion.

*CAIRD, Prf. Edw. The Evolution of Religion, 2 vols. [Gifford Lectures, 1890–92] p 8° 14*s. nt.* MacLehose, Glasg. / $4 nt. Macmillan, N.Y. 93

Gives an account of the evol. of relig., and also deals w. the main questions as to the nature and evidence of relig. wh. have been raised in modern times. In the First course of lects. the main stages in the developmt. of pre-Xtn. religs. are treated; the Second is devoted to the developmt. of the Jewish and Xtn. religs. An exceedingly important and thoroughly interesting work, by the acknowledged chief of the neo-Hegelian school in Britain.

" " Anthropological Religion; Theosophy or Psycholog. Relig. [Giff. Lects., '91, '92] ea. 10/6 ($3) c 8° " 92; 93
The First wk. is introductory, contg. an exam. of the various definitions of natural religion and a statement of the objects it may hope to achieve. The Second shows how different nations had arrived at a belief in many gods of nature, and at last in one God above all gods. The Third shows how different nations arrived at a belief in soul. Having thus given a history of the discovery of an objective or cosmic Deity and of the discov. of the soul, the Fourth and final wk. conts. a hist. of the various attempts that have been made to define the relation betw. the infinite in nature and the infinite in man, or the union of the soul with God. The author's main stdpt. is that man in the foundation, and largely in the devel., of his relig. ideas has been under the guidance of reason or what to the author is identical—of language, and that mythol. is a "disease of language." After pub. of first two bks. an attempt was made to silence MAX MÜLLER as Gifford lecturer at Glasgow, but the charge of heresy (aimed not only at the lecturer, but also at the Senate of the Univ. and its Principal, Dr. J. CAIRD), was thrown out in the Glasgow Presbytery by 17 to 5 votes, and the appeal made by the defeated party to the General Assembly at Edinb. simply dismissed. When the late Lord GIFFORD bequeathed £80,000 for endowmt. of Nat. Theol. lectureships in the Univs. of Edinb., Glasg., Aberd., and St. Andrews, he directed the lecturers, who were to be elected "subject to no dogmatic tests whatever," to treat their subj. "as a strictly natural science, without refer. to any supposed special or so-called miraculous revelations."

A § 6 (where that impressive but signally defective wk. is too favourably characterized). Argues that the new ideas of the nature and order of things, incl. the doctr. of evolution, constitute a better basis for Theistic and Xtian. faith than the old. Author describes himself as a "natural realist on a basis of evolution, and a spiritual believer on a basis of natural realism." On the subj. of the final destiny of "the rejected," he is, in plain English, a universalist.

RENAN, Ernest [Rat.] The Future of Science: Ideas of 1848 [tr. (badly)] 8° 18/- Chapman / $2.50 Roberts, Boston 91

A sort of Apologia pro vita sua: a fascinating self-portraiture of a genuine truth-seeker, a perfect specimen of what the Gks. termed a Skeptic, i.e. a man who has a natural distrust of dogma or finality in speculative subjects of all kinds. "I have tasted in my childhood and early youth the purest joys of the believer, and I say from the bottom of my heart that these joys are nothing by comparison with what I have felt in the pure contemplation of the Beautiful and the passionate search after Truth. I desire for all my brethren who have remained orthodox a peace to be compared with that in which I live since my struggle is over, and since the appeased storm has left me in the midst of this great Pacific Ocean—a sea without wind or storm, upon which one has no star but Reason, no compass but one's own heart."

STIRLING, Dr. J. Hutchison [C.-S.] Philosophy and Theology [Gifford Lectures 1889 (the first)] 9/- p 8° Clark, Edin. 90

By the well-known founder of Hegelian studies in Engl. Discusses the proofs of God's existence, traces their successive appearance in the hist. of philos., and vindicates them agst. the objections of HUME, KANT and DARWIN (to the last of whom nearly a quarter of the vol. is devoted). Author says the Ch. of Scotl. is—like the Ch. of Engl.—divided into 3 parties, high, broad and low, and it is to the last mentioned that he belongs. A learned bk., but full of tortuosities of style and somewhat thin humour.

This essay, by the author of the term "Agnostic," wh. he invented as a name for his own opinions and those of the schl. to wh. he belongs (above all of Hume and to a gt. extent of Kant), throws much light on Agnosticism as a philos. method. "Agnosticism is not a creed, but a method, the essence of wh. lies in the rigorous applicn. of a single principle. . . . Positively the principle may be expressed: In matters of the intellect follow yr. reason as far as it will take you without regard to any other consideration. And negatively: In matters of the intellect do not pretend that conclusions are certain wh. are not demonstrated nor demonstrable" (p. 362).

Agada.

BACHER, Dr. Wilh. Die Agada der Tannaiten, 2 vols. vol. i. 8*m.*, vol. ii. 10*m.* 8° Trübner, Strassb. 84; 90

A most industrious compilation, full of first-hand notices resp. the teachers of the later Jewish Church, down to the completion of the Mishna. Vol. i. From HILLEL to AKIBA [B.C. 30-A.D. 135]; vol. ii. From AKIBA's death to close of the Mishna [A.D. 135-220].

" " Die Agada der Palaestinensischen Amoräer, vol i. 10*m.* 8° Trübner, Strassb. 91

Carries on the above wk. to the Amoræans, the successors of the Tannaites. "The Tannaites had treated the text of the Bible; so also did the Amoraim treat that of the second code [the Mishna], and their discussions are stored up in the Gemara, wh. forms the second element in the Talmud" (GRÄTZ, Hist. of Jews, Eng. ed. ii., 494 ut F § 7); but with respect to Agadic teaching there is no distinction betw. them.

Kabbala.

*FRANCK, Ad. La Kabbale: la philosophie religieuse des Hébreux 7*f.*50 8° Hachette, Paris [43] 89

Starts w. the Kabbala of the 13 cent., when it took the form of a comm. on the Pentateuch; discusses its authentic, and disallows its supernat. origin, finding that it and the other surviving text of the Kabbala, the Book of the Creation, were the work of several generations of Hebr. commentators, ultimately tracing the bk. as an offshoot of the Zendavesta, w. wh. it has numerous and curious coincidences. A learned, rational, and very readable bk.

13. MOHAMMEDANISM AND HISTORY OF ISLAMISM.

Treatises.

ALI, Syed Ameer The Life and Teachings of Mohammed: or the Spirit of Islâm 18/- 8° W. H. Allen 91
A clear and forcible expos. of Mohammedanism, intended primarily for circulation amongst Xtns. A curious sign of the times, representative of the growth of Islâm in the midst of Xtn. countries, and interesting as enabling us to contemplate Islâm from within and Xty. from without. Some of its statements, ab. Xty. are, however, outrageous. The author is a judge of the High Ct. of Bengal, and here becomes the spokesman of our fifty million fellow subjects who hold his creed. His Mohammedanism is of a distinctly Rationalistic type, attributing the defects of modern Islamism to the fossilizing influence of the patristic theologians, disavowing slavery, polygamy, divorce, etc.

POOL, Jno. J. Studies in Mohammedanism: histor. and doctr.; w. chap. on Islâm in Engl. 6/- c 8° Constable 92
An interesting, tho' informal and discursive, survey of Mussulman faith, practice and history, consisting of 40 papers compiled fr. well-known and usually trustworthy sources, one of its purposes being to provide a prophylactic agst. perversion to Moham. A conspic. feature of the bk. is its acc. of the Moh. church founded in L'pl. by Mr. Quilliam (a L'pl. solicitor), with a following of 50 members, incl. 14 ladies: in wh., or indeed in the future of Islâm in Engl., the author evidently has no great faith.

QUILLIAM, Abdullah The Faith of Islam 1/- 8° Wilner Bros., L'pool [89] 92
Its object is to prepare Xtns. for the acceptance of Islam as a creed, a consid. portion of it consisting of quots. fr. Xtn. authors who have acknowledged what is excellent in that religion. Vide note to POOL, supra.

Bábí-ism [a variety of Sufiism, w. a strong practical bias].

BROWNE, Edw. G. [ed. & tr.] A Traveller's Narrative, written to ill. the Episode of the Báb, 2 vols. c 8° 15/- nt. Camb. Press / $6.50 Macmillan, N.Y. 91
,, ,, Bábí-ism—in Religious Systems of the World—ut A § 9.
The former is a facs. of the orig. anon. Persian text [=vol. i., not sold sep'rtly.], w. Engl. tr., intro. and learned notes [=vol. ii., sep. 10/6 nt.]. SEYED MAHAMMED ALI, commonly known as the Báb, was a young merchant of Shiraz, b. 1821. At age of 24 he began to declare his rank of Báb-hood, his doctrines at first differing but little fr. those of Islâm, but later he adopted a dreamy humanitarian liberalism, teaching the brotherhood of mankind, greater freedom for women, liberal provision for the poor, wickedness of wars, etc. He rapidly gained adherents, and persecution followed at the hands of the Mollahs (regular clergy). After suffering imprisonmt., he was put to death at Tabriz in 1850. Whilst in captivity, his followers rose in armed revolt, but were suppressed, and the head-quarters of the sect had to be removed fr. Persia to Bagdad. In 1867 a schism (the usual fate of a sect), occurred. Since the d. of the Bab, MIRZA YAHYA had been the acknowledged chief, but now BEHA claimed the leadership, a claim admitted by most. This work was composed by his order, and comprises a hist. of the relig., w. statemt. of its doctr. and principles. In conseq. of the dissensions wh. broke out the Govt. sent MIRZA to Cyprus and BEHA to Acre, in both of wh. places Mr. BROWNE had interviews with them. The religion itself seems to be an essentially transitory one. Vide also Mr. BROWNE'S article in Jl. R. Asiatic Soc., vol, xxi.

A system. and scholarly attempt to trace, as it were, a straight line down the ages from GOTAMA in Magadha to SUMANGALA, now Principal of the Pali Coll. in Colombo and High-Priest of Adam's Peak. Its scope is thus limited to Singhalese Buddhism. It considers that the oldest biog. of GOTAMA cannot claim in its pres. form any higher antiq. than 4th cent. A.D. (=9th fr. date of its subject), and that there is little historical evidence for the centuries before 260 B.C., assigning therefore an immense importance to the era of Asoka as that in wh. Buddhism and Buddh. liter. took the shape in wh. we now have them. His acc. of ASOKA and estimate of the value of his rock-inscriptions to the hist. of Buddhism are the best popular presentations we have of them.

An account of the sources, date, authorship, and general character of the var. bks., an outline of each being given, then a literary analysis (the var. pts. bg. assigned to their sources), and finally an inquiry into the date of the sources and of the Book in its pres. form. Learned, candid, considerate, and on the whole the conclusions are those of the prevailing school of modern criticism, tho' w. important modifications: Can. DRIVER is somewhat conservative on the Psalter, and, tho' less so, also on the Pentateuch (the anal. of this latter is very complete).

The first attempt at a system. revision of the Hebr. Scripp. since the Massoretic text was fixed in 6 cent. Promise is made that it will embody the assured results reached by mod. scholarship, both as regards actual wording of docums. and assignmt. to definite periods. To comprize 20 Pts., of wh Pt. xvii. : The Bk. of Job, ed. Prf. C. SIEGFRIED, of Jena, and v. : Leviticus, ed. Can. S. R. DRIVER, appear first (notes tr. Prf. R. E. BRUNNOW). Various colours (blue, green, and red) for the various documents are used to indicate (1) parallel compositions, (2) polemical interpolations, (3) correcting interpolations—in Job conforming the speeches of JOB to the spirit of the orthodox doctr. of Retribution. The crit. notes are short and to the point, and the bibliogr. references exhaustive. Among the scholars taking pt. in the enterprize are :—

England.	America.	Germany.
Rev. C. J. BALL.	Can. S. R. DRIVER.	Prf. W. R. HARPER.	Prf. C. SIEGFRIED.
Prf. T. K. ABBOTT.	Prf. H. E. RYLE.	Prf. WARD.	Prf. A. JEREMIAS.

Harris, Dr. J. Rendel A Study of the Codex Bezæ [Texts and Studies] 8° 7/6 nt. Camb. Press / $2.00 nt. Macmillan, N.Y. 91
The Codex Bezæ is a MS. of the Gospels and Acts w. Gk. on one side and Lat. on the other. Critics of last cent. regarded the Lat. as the orig. text, and the Gk. as dependent on it. Recent critics take the opposite view (v. Intro. to SCRIVENER'S edn., nt B.B. A § 17), but Dr. HARRIS reverts to the old opinion, and gives his reasons here.

20. CANON OF SCRIPTURE.

Most works on BIBLICAL INTRODUCTION [ut A § 16] deal with this subject.

Whole Bible.

Book by Book: Popular Studies on the Canon of Holy Scripture 7/6 p 8° Isbister 92
Popular arts. by Bp. of RIPON, Bp. of WORCS., Dn. of GLOUCS., Can. MACLEAR, Archd. FARRAR, Prf. Marcus DODS, Prf. Stanley LEATHES, Prf. J. ROBERTSON, Prf. A. B. DAVIDSON, Prf. Wm. SANDAY, Prf. G. SALMON, Prf. Wm. MILLIGAN, and Prf. W. G. ELMSLIE, to each of whom has been allotted a bk. or group of bks.

SMYTH, [Dr.] J. Paterson How we got our Bible; 8 ill. c 8° 1/- Bagster / $1 Pott, N.Y. [86] 93
An excellent and deservedly popular bk., conveying an intelligent and informed conception of the hist. of the formation of the Biblical Canon.

" " How God Inspired the Bible 2/6 c 8° Bagster [92] 92
" " The Old Documents and the New Bible; 11 ill. 2/6 c 8° " [90] 90
Gives an admirably clear and lively acc. of Hebrew writing, earlier and later; of the formation of the Massoretic text; of the use for purposes of textual criticism of the Talmud and the Targums; and of the hist. of the more important versions, the LXX., the Syriac, the Vulgate.

TALBOT, Can. R. T. [Durh.; C.-E.] Our Bible: how it has come to us 1/6 c 8° Isbister 93
Pop. acc. of Bible before and after invent. of prtg., of the var. trss., translators, and of Canon of Script.

Old Testament.

BUHL, Prf. Frz. Canon and Text of the Old Test., tr. Rev. Jno. Macpherson [F.-Ch.] 8° 7/6 Clark, Edin. / $3 Scribner, N.Y. 92
Tr. fr. Danish. A succinct yet comprehensive crit. digest of the results of recent study, by the successor to the Lpz. chair of late Frz. DELITZSCH; with many literary references, increased by Engl. bks. in Engl. edn. More valuable on the Text than on the Canon.

MULLEN, Bp. Tobias [Erie; Am. R.-C.] The Canon of the Old Testament c 8° $3 nt. Pustet, N.Y. / 13*s. nt.* Washbourne 92
RYLE, Prf. Herb. E. [C.-E.] Introduction to the History of the Canon of the Old Test. 6/- ($1.75) c 8° Macmillan 92
Traces historically the gradual growth and formation of the Hebr. Canon of Script., wh. passed through a very similar course of develmt. to that of the N.T. The liter. of O.T. is dated acc. to the conclusions of the critical school, and the bk. is throughout candid and liberal, but claims that the general recognition wh. the Hebr. Bible received fr. Christ and His apostles suffices to invest it w. divine authority.

The Gk. text, w. an elab. intro., crit. and exeg. notes, paraphrase and good commentary. A sound and scholarly wk., indispensible to a thorough study of the Epistle. Author believes the Ep. to be "the earliest of the bks. of N.T., writ. prob. in first decade of Xtn. era," wh. if correct, would be of inestimable advantage for the orthodox cause. He dismisses the theory that the Ep. is a tr. fr. an Aramaic original without hesitation, and is of opinion that the picture it presents of pre-Pauline Xty. is of spec. value in an age of relig. dissent like the present.

KENNARD, H. Martyn Philistines and Israelites 6/- 4° Chapman 93

Its main thesis is that fr. the time of Abraham 2 great races contended for the mastery of the East, the Hamitic Cushites and the Semitic Hamites, whose conflicts "have been adroitly narrowed by the priestly writers into petty encounters betw. Philistines and Israelites." "Beyond all doubt we have been hood-winked and bamboozled by priestcraft. Instead of Abraham, Moses and David bg. simple shepherds, and viceregents of the Almighty, they were great Cushite Emperors and worshippers of the Sun-God Masu, Ahen or Amen."

DIDON, Father [R.-C.] Jesus Christ, tr. Dr. Bern. O'Reilly [R.-C.], 2 vols. p 8° 12- Paul [91] 93; $7.50 Appleton, N.Y. 91

Though a devout Roman Catholic (Order of St. Dominic), the author avoids controversial points; and the bk., wh. is a scholarly and instructive one, is of much value to readers of all communions.

FOUARD, Abbé Constant [R.-C.] The Christ the Son of God, tr. G. F. X. Griffith [R.-C.] 2 vols. 14/- ($4) c 8° Longman 90

From the standpoint of modern Catholic scholarship. The author is at the head of the younger generation of Catholic scholars in France, where the book at once received the heartiest recognition. Eschews criticism and controversy, being "an act of Faith," written in blind credulity and as such super criticam, as was Sigismund super grammaticam. Picturesque and imaginative, like RENAN—only "more so." Intro. by Card. MANNING.

ADDIS, Rev. W. E. [Unit.; ex-R.-C.] Christianity and the Roman Empire [Manls. Early Xtn. Hist.] 3/6 c 8° Sund. Schl. Assoc. 93

A brief, intelligent and interesting acc. of the development rather than the hist. of the first 3 cents. of Xty. Adopts unreservedly the views of "the German School." A good (but not perfect) intro. to the subj., for pop. use; but the opinions of LIGHTFOOT (and, if the student read Germ., of NEUMANN) should also be studied.

*RAMSAY, Prf. W. M. The Church in the Roman Empire before A.D. 170; maps and ill. 12/- 8° Hodder [93] 93

An important wk., tracing the history of the relations wh. the Rom. Imper. Govt. maintained tow. the growing power of the Church, and describing the situation of Xtn. hist. within the general hist. of the Rom. Emp. before A.D. 180. Pt. i. (8 chaps.) is entitled St. Paul in Asia Minor (wh. the author's archæol. and topogr. knowledge brilliantly illuminates), Pt. ii. (the longer) is founded on lects. del. in 1892 (at Mansfield College, Oxon), and covers the period A.D. 64–170, treating more espec. of the whole question of the persecutions of the Church. The whole book is a model of strictly scientific application of archæol., histor., topogr. and numismatic evidence to the investigation of early Christian history.

SLATER, Rev. W. F. [Wesl.] The Faith and Life of the Early Church: an intro. to Church hist. 7/– c 8° Hodder 92

A thoroughly modern and fairly critical, though not quite adequate, intro. to the study of the Primitive Church. Its chief characteristic is its exposition and defence of the view that Catholic Xty. was the result not of an amalgamation or reconciliation of contending parties (as commonly held) but of the triumphs of Gentile Xty. It is to some extent a defence of Wesleyanism agst. Roman and Angl. pretensions. WEIZSÄCKER'S and PFLEIDERER'S theories incisively criticised.

*WEIZSÄCKER, Carl The Apostolic Age [tr.] [Theol. Transl. Lib.] 8° Williams 93

Thoroughly historical in spirit and critical in method, realizing the best results of modern criticism.

Hill, Rev. J. Hamlyn [tr.] The Earliest Life of Christ ever compiled fr. the four Gospels [=tr. of "Diatessaron"] 8° Clark, Edin. in prep.

Tr. fr. CIASCA'S Latin version, compared w. the Arabic : w. tr. of EPHRAEM'S Commentary (fr. Dr. MOESINGER'S Latin edn.) and an Intro. on the MSS. and their history, an acc. of TATIAN himself and his commentators, and an estimate of the value of the wk. for criticism and exegesis of the Gospels. Append'ces.

The Diatessaron was for cents. the regular Church Gospels in the Euphrates valley, and was prob. widely known elsewhere. It has only recently been recovered in (1) the Arab. tr.; (2) an Armen. commentary on the 4 Gospels, from which the fragms. of the Diatessaron have been extracted. It is of great importance for the textual crit. of N.T., even tho' not yet found in its earliest form. It was constantly used by the Syrian fathers, tho' this use of course diminishes steadily fr. the 2 cent. onwards till first half of 5 cent., yet could not have passed out of use even by 9 cent., when the Arab. tr. fr. the Syriac was made. TATIAN was a disciple of JUSTIN MARTYR.

97. ROMAN CATHOLICISM (a): BIBLIOGRAPHY. SERIES. HISTORY.

MY attention having been called by correspondents from various parts of the world to the inadequacy of this and the following three sections [A §§ 97–100] in The Best Books, and having been specially asked by numerous persons to make these sections as complete as possible, I have here sought, by copiously supplementing the previous lists, to render the whole as fairly representative a bibliography of the current literature of Roman Catholicism as a very limited acquaintance with the subject renders possible. Such books as are also of considerable general or extra-Catholic interest have been taken into the Special Departments, as was the case in The Best Books. These will be found as follows (non-theological and non-ecclesiastical books by Roman Catholic writers occurring of course throughout the whole work passim):—

"It has ever been a hobby of mine, though, perhaps, it is a truism not a hobby, that the true life of a man is in his letters . . . not only for the interests of a biography, but for arriving at the inside of things, the publication of letters is the true method. Biographers varnish, they assign motives, they conjecture feelings, they interpret Lord Burleigh's nods; but contemporary letters are facts."—J. H. NEWMAN.

BOGATZKY, Golden Treasury for Children of God [tr.]: repr. of 1st ed., ed. Chas. P. Phinn 6/- c 8° Stock 91

A repr. of an interleaved copy of the 1st edn. (1775) of the tr., or paraphrase, wh. was sent by Jno. THORNTON (for whom it was priv. prin.) to Rev. Jno. BERRIDGE (Vicar of Everton), for his corrns. and prep. for the press. It has been further revised by Rev. W. BULL. When thus sent to BERRIDGE, only two-thirds of the prose and only 37 out of the 366 hymns were in any sense BOGATZKY'S, the rest hg. been borrowed fr. Engl. authors or written expressly for the wk. by THORNTON and his friends. The verse was mostly taken fr. Is. WATTS. The notes and corrns. of BERRIDGE, a staunch Puritan in both religion and language, are of consid. interest, and the edn. as a whole presents us w. an exact reprod. of the opinions of the chief of the Evangel. fathers in the C. of E., who were neither Wesleyans nor ultra-Calvinists. Intro. by Prc. H. C. G. MOULE.

to Council of Nicæa, A.D. 325.

CRUTTWELL, Rev. Chas. T. [C.-E.] Literary History of Early Christianity, 2 vols. 21/– 8° Griffin 93

Incl. the Fathers and chief heretical writers of the Ante-Nicene period. From a literary, rather than a strictly theol. pt. of view, indic. the leading intell. conceptions of the various writers, the degree of success attained by each, and their permanent value as contribs. to thought—following the same method as in his Hist. of Roman Liter. [ut §§. Posthumously ed. by Dr. A. M. FAIRBAIRN [Congl.]. The object of the bk. is to account for the difference betw. the Xty. of the Sermon on the Mount and that of the Nicene Creed, the former being "the promulgation of a new law of conduct" in which metaphysics is entirely absent), the latter being a "statement partly of historical facts and partly of dogmatic inferences" (couched in metaphys. terms, in wh. ethics has no place): the change in the "centre of gravity fr. conduct to belief" being coincident w. the transference of Xty. fr. a Semitic to a Greek soil.

WESTCOTT, Bp. Brooke F. [Durh.; C.-E.] Essays in the Hist. of Relig. Thought in the West 6/– ($1.75) gl 8° Macmillan 91

9 essays on Plato's Myths, Æschylus, Euripides, Dionysius the Areopagite, Origen [v. A § 55], Benj. Whichcote [a charming sketch], Rel. of Xty. to Art [erudite and accurate], Browning's Teaching of Xty. as the Absolute Religion. The obj. of the whole is to demonstrate of W. civilization that in every realm of human activity (action, liter., art) the works wh. receive the most lasting homage of the soul are those wh. are most Christian, and that it is in each the Xtn. element wh. holds our reverence.

An excellent edn. of this hitherto missing wk. (ment. by Eusebius and Jerome). The e tr. in 1889 discov. this Syr. vers. [? 7 cent. in the libr. of Convent of St. Catherine, on Mt. Sinai]. Prf. J. A. ROBINSON adds an Appendix, identifying the Gk. text of Barlaam and Joasaph [the main portion here reprod.; also ed. in Migne's edn. of JOHN OF DAMASCUS Opera, 3 v. 45/fr. r 8° Paris] with the long-lost orig. of the Apology. The whole forms a most interesting and valuable contrib. to understanding of pre-eccles. Xty., scarcely less import. than the Didaché [v. A § 55]. The Apol. was presented to the Emp. HADRIAN, A.D. 125.

Patrick, Rev. Jno. The Apology of Origen in reply to Celsus: a chap. in the hist. of apologetics 7/6 c 8° Blackwood 92

A sound and thoughtful monograph on ORIGEN'S answer to the treatise (now lost) of CELSUS agst. Christianity, charging it w. being dangerous to the State. Gives the arguments on both sides, and forms a very convenient digest of the whole controversy. A good chap. shows the relations betw. Xty. and the Empire, and the vol. conts. a tr. of the greater pt. of CELSUS' True Word. Author disagrees w. KEIM'S opin. that the CELSUS of ORIGEN was CELSUS the Epicurean known to LUCIAN.

Vaughan, Abp. Rog. B. [Sydney; R.-C.] Life and Labours of St. Thos. of Aquinas [Bened. Lib.] 6/6 c 8° Burns & Oates [72] 90
Since the Papal Encyclical of 4 Aug. 1870 [ut supra], making the philos. of St. THOMAS the groundwk. of instruction in R.-Cath. schools, there have been numerous new works ab. him and his system, chiefly fr. the R.-Cath. side and mostly in German.

BACON, Roger [1214–1294]. Works
Dr. J. H. BRIDGES, one of the chief Engl. exponents of Positivism (Newton Hall School), is intending to edit these, using (if possible) the import. Bacon MSS. wh. are thought to be in the Vatican, but wh. are not yet catalogued.

Renaissance.

*OWEN, Rev. Jno. [B.-C.] Skeptics of the Italian Renaissance 8° 10/6 Sonnenschein / $3.50 Macmillan [92] 93
" " Skeptics of the French Renaissance 8° 10/6 Sonnenschein / $3.50 Macmillan 93
Vol. i. deals w. General Causes (pp. 3–95), DANTE, PETRARCH, BOCCACCIO, PULCI, MACHIAVELLI, GUICCIARDINI, POMPONAZZI, BRUNO, VANINI [last 3, to whom more than half the vol. is devoted, of special value].
Vol. ii. deals w. MONTAIGNE, Peter RAMUS, CHARRON, SANCHEZ, LA MOTHE-LE-VAYER, PASCAL.
Together they form an excellent intro. to the hist. of Ital. and Fch. free-thought, from 13 to 17 cents., written in an attractive and scholarly manner, entirely at first-hand fr. the original sources. Its copious refers. to the liter. of the Renaissance are very useful and exact. Index to each vol.

Mystics.

BÖHME, Jacob [d. 1624]
Hartmann, Dr. Frz. [Theos.] Life and Doctrines of Böhme, the God-taught philosopher 10/6 c 8° Paul 93
Written fr. the pt. of view of a modern Buddhistic theosophist, and the "doctrines" correspondingly diluted.

HALL, Bp. Jos. [Norw.; 1574–1656] Christ Mystical; ed. fr. Gen. Gordon's copy 3/6 c 8° Hodder [1654] 91
Marginal lines mark the passages wh. GORDON most admired. It is a sober little treatise, by "the Christian Seneca."

LAW, William (Non-juror; 1686–1761] Works, ed. G. Moreton, vols. i.–iii. ea. 2/6 c 8° Setley, Brockenhurst 93
A good repr. (made fr. Mr. G. MORETON) of RICHARDSON'S ed.; 9 vols., 1762, w. intros. by EDR. Vols. i.-ii. are occup. w. the early controvers. wrgs. (Three Letters to Bp. of Bangor, Remarks on [MANDEVILLE'S] Fable of the Bees, reply to TINDAL'S Christianity as Old as the Creation, Absolute Unlawfulness of Stage Entertainments, etc.); vol. iii. conts. the Pract. Treat. on Christian Perfection, one of his best practical treatises. Vol. iv. to cont. the Serious Call.
" " Defence of Church Principles, ed. J. O. Nash+Chas. Gore 2/6 nt. c 8° Griffith n.d. (93)
Conts. the Three Letters to the Bp. of Bangor, as in vol. i. of Mr. MORETON'S reprt., broken up, w. a summary prefixed to ea. section, an intro. and some notes.
" " Serious Call to a Devout and Holy Life [Lib. of Theol. Liter.] 1/– c 8° Griffith [1729] 88
A bk. that has "a strange and moving spiritual pedigree." It led JOHNSON to think in earnest; it strongly affected WHITEFIELD; from it Thos. SCOTT dated the beginning of his spiritual life, and NEWMAN in his Apologia speaks of SCOTT as the writer "to whom, humanly speaking, I almost owe my soul." Doubtless the recent revival of interest in LAW'S wrgs. is mainly due to the tendency of the pres. age tow. mysticism and "theosophy," as a reaction agst. purely scientif. thought and methods, aided by the manly piety, practical devotional character and excellent English of the wks. themselves.
" " The Spirit of Prayer [Lib. of Theol. Liter.] 1/– c 8° Griffith n.d. (93)
Appendix conts. part of LAW'S exposition of BÖHME.
" " The Spirit of Love in Dialogues [Lib. of Theol. Liter.] 1/– c 8° Griffith n.d. (93)

A tr. of Der Inhalt der Lehre Jesu, an important contrib. to bibl. theology. The introd. to vol. I. summarizes the results of his heretical analysis of the text of the Gospels, and the rest of the wk. rigidly adheres to the scheme there outlined. The "results," briefly stated, are that there are 3 Apostolic "sources" or authorities underlying our present Gospels : (1) Mark's Gosp., (2) the Matthew discourses, ed. in 2 forms in 1st and 3rd Gospels, (3) the Johannine discourses, ed. in 4th Gosp. by a post-Apost. writer. [The reasons for this crit. anal., appearing in the orig. wk., are not tr. in the Engl. edn.] The author's acc. of the Teaching of Christ as a whole—of its "unity, consistency, moral depth and grandeur," ii. pp. 389-97)—is not materially affected by his critical results.

Roman Catholic.

LACORDAIRE, F'r. J. B. H. Jesus Christ, God, God and Man [tr.] [conferences at Notre Dame de Paris] c 8° 7/6 Chapman [72] 92 / $1.50 Whittaker, N.Y. 92

SETH, Prf. Jas. — Freedom as Ethical Postulate — 1/- s 8° Blackwood 91

Passing in brief review the speculations of HUME, KANT, and HEGEL, finds that freedom and personality are ultimately one, and so accepts personality as an ultimate metaphys. conception like the conception of God and the world. Seeks to strengthen his position by limiting the conception of freedom, finding that the principle of "economy of spiritual force," "continuity of moral life," "fixity of character," lead to acts of mechanism or habit.

CARPENTER, Bp. W. Boyd [Ripon; C.-E.] The Permanent Elements of Relig. [Bamp. Lects. '87] 6/- ($2) c 8° — Macmillan — [89] 91

Author takes his stand on the broad and philos. foundation of compar. religion, Xty.—for the purposes of his argument—ranking side by side w. Islamism and Buddhism as one of the Universal Religions. The "permanent elements" are Dependence, Fellowship and Progress [not v. differ. fr. the Pauline triad of Faith, Hope and Charity], the permanence of wh. depends on the laws by wh. man's spirit. nature grows. Of these he mentions four, not professing to be exhaustive; the law (1) of environment, (2) of organism, (3) of sacrifice, (4) of indirectness.

131. CHRISTIAN EVIDENCES (c): SCIENTIFIC AND HISTORIC ACCURACY OF THE BIBLE.

Generally.

KINNS, Sam. [layman] Graven in the Rock; profusely ill. 12/6 8° Cassell [91] 91

A sample of a thoroughly bad bk., written w. a good intention: largely read and spoken about in drawing-rooms. Setting itself to prove the histor. and scient. accur. of the Bible fr. beginning to end, it brings together fr. all sorts of sources, mostly bad, arguments and confirmations of the author's views (he has "amalgamated his own thoughts and discoveries w. those of eminent Egyptologists"). The 1st edn. was subscribed for in full on publn. by Dukes, Earls, 15 Bishops (printed in capitals) and others (in small type). "The advent of each species has been a separate act of creation"; The Garden of Eden "extended for several miles, and was shut in by an impenetrable fence"; Adam and Eve employed themselves in "singing impromptu songs in the glades of that delightful garden"; at the time of the Deluge the population of the earth amounted to "at least two millions"; "all existing nations are descended from Noah"; there is "no doubt" that Daniel wrote Daniel; there is no real difficulty ab. "the longevity of the antediluvian" patriarchs, because the Rev. F. PAYNTER has an oak-tree in his garden not less than 800 yrs. old. In fact no difficulties are left for subsequent critics to solve.

*CHEYNE, Can. Thos. K. [B.-C.] The Psalter : its Origin and Religious Contents [Bampton Lects.] 8° 16/- Paul / $4 Whittaker, N.Y. 91

Marks a new epoch in English Psalter-criticism, tho' its results have been practically a settled matter for a long time in Dutch and German schools of Biblical criticism. Assigns the whole Psalter to the post-exilic period (w. the doubtful exception of Ps. xviii.), towards establishing wh. conclusion 5 out of the 8 lects. are devoted. A thoroughly scientific exegesis, moving in harmony w. the deepest religious spirit. Examines the whole Psalter, group by group, psalm by psalm, almost verse by verse, in a sound apologetic manner.

LEATHES, Prf. Stanley [C.-E.] The Law in the Prophets [Bible Student's Lib.] 3/6 8° Eyre & Spot. [91] 93

Taking the Prophets in order of Engl. Bible (Dan. incl.), goes thro' ea. bk. chap. by chap., noting the words and phrases wh. in his opin prove the writers to have been acquainted w. the Pentateuch as we now have it, the corresp. passages bg. prtd., side by side, w. occas. notes. Shows a thorough contempt of all mod. criticism; and its whole method is equally unscientific.

Not very trustworthy, and its theories somewhat "faddy," being based largely on doublets and textual inconsistencies. The sec. ed. differs consid. fr. first—not for the better.

BARNES, Rev. W. E. [C.-E.] Canonical and Uncanonical Gospels 3/6 c 8° Longman 93

Attempts to show that the Canon, Gospels were beyond all doubt received as the Four Authoritative Gospels at least 100 yrs. before CONSTANTINE estab. Xtianity as a State religion, and that the main features of the story of Christ's life can be traced back continuously to within 30 yrs. of his death. Contg. a tr. of Gospel of St. Peter and a sel. of sayings of Xt. not found in Gospels.

BIRKS, Can. T. R. [C.-E.] Horæ Evangelicæ: the Internal evid. of the Gosp. hist., ed. Rev. H. A. Birks 8° 10/6 Bell / $4 Macmillan, N.Y. 92

DOANE, T. W. [Am. Unit.] Bible Myths and their Parallels in other Religions; ill. — $2.50 8° Truthseeker Co., N. Y. [82] 90

A comparison of O. and N. Test. myths w. those of heathen nations of antiquity; w. consid. of their origin and meaning. A sort of summary of heterodox opinions, contg. a great deal of out-of-the-way information fr. many sources. Good index.

ELLINWOOD, Dr. Fk. F. [Am.] The Oriental Religions and Christianity — 9/– 12° $1.25 Scribner / 5/– Nisbet — 92

Ely Lects. 1891. Each presents a distinct topic or particular phase of the present conflict of Xtn. w. the non-Xtn. religions of India, China, Turkey, and Persia—from standpoint of a missionary platform.

FARRER, Jas. A. — Paganism and Christianity — 6/– c 8° Black 91

Seeks to show that the Xtn. Church of the 1st four cents. had nothing to teach that was at once new and true, and that it did great mischief by largely contributing to the dissolution of the Rom. Empire. His solns. from Pagan moralists of the 1st two cents., breathing the loftiest humanity, contrasted w. passages fr. the Fathers breathing the very opposite spirit, are interesting, but certainly do not suffice to prove the author's main contention that Xtianity. did not better the world in either morals or religion.

WOOD, Rev. Chas. Jas. [Am. Episc.] Survivals in Christianity: studies in theol. of Divine Immanence 6/– ($1.50) c 8° Macmil. 93

Illustrates the mixture of ethnic relig. notions w. Xty. in the early cents., giving some of the causes of the incomplete reception of Xty. among the Apostles, post-apost. Xtns., ante-Nicene and mediæv. theologians, accounting for a survival in Xty. of some incongruous and alien elements wh. "contradict the very essence of the revelation of Jesus and enfeeble it as an instrument for the salvation of the world."

Relation of Folklore to Ethnology.

GOMME, G. Laur. — Ethnology in Folklore [Modern Science Series] c 8° 2/6 Paul / $1 Appleton, N.Y. 92

A statement of the author's views as to the functions of folklore as a means of ethnological research, and as to the principles to be applied in the scientific analysis of custom and belief: the first attempt of its kind. Its main idea is that a non-Aryan race preceded the Aryan wave, had its own cults and customs, was conquered but not exterminated by the Aryans, and continued to a late period intermixed w. its conquerors: fr. wh. race the author traces folk-customs.

The exempla were very early collected fr. the Bp's. sermons, and intended for the use of other preachers. Being examples of what the pious Xtn. is not to break the 1st commandmt. by believing in, they cont. much folklore and are of spec. value fr. the standpt. of compar. storiology. There is much unused similar material in other mediæv. sermons and service-bks. (wh. wants editing).

Asserts that the Arth. legends are only another expression of the Celtic religion wh. personified the phenom. of nature under another set of names, but that the so-called later cycle has been confused by the introd. of a histor. element, there having been a histor. ARTHUR and a Brythonic divinity of the same name. Author promises another vol. on the dark divinities of the Celts. Vide also note in K § 46.

Druidism.

MORGAN, Owen ["Morien"] The Light of Britannia ; port. and ill. — 10/6 nt. 8° Owen, Cardiff 93
Based on entirely antiquated authorities [e.g. DUPUIS, Godfrey HIGGINS, KNIGHT, FABER, BRYANT, CALMET'S Bible Dict. and BELL'S Pantheon]. Written in Engl. by an enthusiastic Welshman (abounding in gramm. and typog. errors), it is intended to unveil the mysteries of anc. Brit. Druidism, on the framework of wh. "the Xtn. religion is scientifically arranged," and to wh. the author attribs. the invention of the solar myth (later borrowed by the Egyptns. and Gks.!) : for him ST. PAUL wrote an Epistle to the Druids of Galatia ; and he even inquires, "Was the Lord Jesus Christ a Druid?" Amusing, nevertheless.

Jowett, Prf. Benj. [tr.] The Dialogues of Plato : tr., w. analyses and introductions, 5 vols. m 8° 84/- Clar. Press / $2 nt. Macmillan, N.Y. [71] 92

The third (and finally, tho' slightly, revised) edn. of this great wk. by the late Master of Balliol, "the English Socrates," the second having been pub. in 1889 [ut 16.16. C § 8]. The standard Engl. tr., an exceedingly faithful version of PLATO'S style and thought, tho' of next to no value as a "crib," and "above" the scientific side of philological scholarship. The Analyses are, generally speaking, a compendium of the tr., often almost identical in lang., displaying briefly, and with a infrable discrimination and lucidity, the "argument" in both senses of the dialogues. The Introductions are a series of expanded elucidations of points raised by the Dialogues, at times little more than long notes, at times excursuses on larger points or portions of the Platonic matter (e.g. those on the Science of Lang., Psychol., Communism, Utilitarianism, the Platonic Ideas, the Philos. Systs. of Kant and Hegel, the Legend of Atlantis, Myths, etc.).

A valuable edn., cont. a mass of parallel passages fr. contemp. writers, and discussions on obscure or antiquarian points. Spelling modernized [Mark Pattison pleads that "to modernize the spelling of a classic is nothing less than to deface one of the monuments of the language," and this is spec. true of Bacon]; and, though intended for the common reader, chiefly valuable for the historical student, as the use made of contemp. trs., Lat., Fch. and Ital., for the elucid. of the text is systematic and thorough, and the dissertations upon Baconian theories of polit. econ., usury, commerce, plantations, pts. of law and judicial procedure, politics and history of the day, highly valuable. Aldis WRIGHT's edn. [ut B.B. C § 10 (now red. to 2/6 nt.)] is still the best for the general reader.

True Intellectual System of the Universe: [1678]; ed. Harrison, 3 vols. [w. 7/6] 8° Tegg 45

An encyclopædic wk., in the form of a refutation of the then popular materialistic writers, Hobbes, Descartes and other fatalists; yet itself too catholic in spirit to escape the charge fr. nearly all contemp. theologians of being atheistic and heretical. Two other wks. completing the whole design were completed only in outline and left in MS., 2 of wh. have been pub.: Immutable Morality, 1731, and Treatise on Free will, ed. Allen, 1838. Several of his MSS. are in Brit. Mus.
There is no modern edn. in print, by far the best being that of 1845 [ut sup.]: it conts. also the Immutable Morality [=Science of Knowledge]. The True Intellectual Syst. was orig. pub. Kritik der Urtheilskraft [1790]:
Bernard, Dr. J. H. [tr.] Kant's Kritik [sic] of Judgment: tr., w. intro. and notes 10/- nt. ($3.50) 8° Macmillan 92

The first complete tr. wh. has appeared in England of the third of the great Kritiken: a wk. wh., by reason of its abundant illustrations and somewhat discursive method, is one of the most "readable" of Kant's writings. Briefly summed up, it may be said to consist of the application of the methods of the Critical Philosophy to the Judgment, æsthetic and teleological, and the a priori principles of taste. Conts. a glossary of Kant's philos. terms.

Politics and Perpetual Peace:

Vol. I. is an Explanation and Defence of the Critique of Pure Reason; vol. II. is tr. of the Prolegomena [ut supra]. Conciseness is the "note" of vol. I., wh., however, has, in this sec. ed., lost its most characteristic feature, viz. its vigorous attack on the Association-psychology of MILL and BAIN (1st ed. cap. iv.). Vol. II. contg. the tr. of Proleg. (so indispensable for KANT'S central doctrine), is invaluable.

Treatise.

FRASER, Prf. Alex. C. Locke [Philos. Classics f. Engl. Readers] f 8° 3/6 Blackwood / $1.25 Lippincott, Phila. 90

Presents a more vivid picture of LOCKE'S varied activity than has yet been given; and the account of the philosophy of the Essay is the most comprehensive and probably the best considered to which the student and the general reader can now turn.

A good tr.; but FLORIO'S gives by far the best idea of MONTAIGNE'S style, and is spec. interesting to Englishmen, as Shakespeare "boiled down" much of it for his own purpose. The best working French edn. is that of MOTHEAU+JOUAUST, in 4 vols. 8vo, w. excellent notes and a glossary, and beautifully printed on good paper: it is based on the edn. of 1588, of wh. STE. Anon. [tr.] The Fourfold Root of the Principle of Sufficient Reason, and on the Will in Nature: tr. [Bohn's Lib.] c 8° 5/- Bell / $1.50 Macmillan, N.Y. 89

The Fourfold Root was SCHOPENHAUER'S earliest pubn., written in his 26th yr., for his doctor's examination—a dissert. wh., as he himself says, "became the substructure for the whole of my system." By the Principle of Sufficient Reason is meant that "nothing is without a reason for its being," and its fourfold root is based in Logical, Physical, Mathematical and Moral necessity. The other essay consists of "corroborations of the author's philos." received from the empirical sciences.

*System of Philosophy :

Principles of Ethics, 2 vols. [vol. i. 15/–; vol. ii. 12/6] 8° 27/6 Williams / Appleton, N.Y. 92; 93

In 6 Parts. Part 1. Data of Ethics (separ. 8/– ['79] '92); Pt. 2. Inductions of Ethics '92; Pt. 3. Ethics of Individual Life '92 [These 3 pts. form vol. i.]; Part 4. Ethics of Social Life—Justice (separ. 8/– ($1 25) ['91] '92); Part 5. Ditto—Negative Beneficence [5/–] '93; Pt. 6. Ditto—Positive Beneficence [5/–] '93.

A highly important work, the coping-stone of SPENCER'S philosophy. The subject of Part 4, Justice, has already been dealt with before in his early work, Social Statics [ut 16.16. C § 62, new edn. 1892, 10/– ($2)], but in that wk. a biological origin for ethics was only indicated, whereas it is here definitely set forth and the elaboration of its consequences has become the cardinal trait of the system. Upon the subjects of the last 2 pts., however, Mr. SPENCER admits that the doctr. of Evolution has not furnished the guidance and support he had looked for. Vide also note to SPENCER in C § 70.

Principles of Sociology, vol. ii. 8° 18/– Williams / Appleton, N.Y. 90

Completes the work, wh. was pub. in 4 pts. from 1879 to 1890.

HICKOK, Prf. Laurens P. [Am.] Empirical Psychology, ed. Dr. Jul. H. Seelye [Am.] $1.25 12° Ginn, Boston [54] 81

*HÖFFDING, Prf. Harald Outlines of Psychology, tr. Mary E. Lowndes 6/- ($1.50) c 8° Macmillan 91

Useful and comprehensive. Method purely scientific and non-metaphysical, treating psychol. as a science of experience as little bound to begin w. an explan. of mind as physics is w. an explan. of matter. The tr. is made fr. the Danish via the German tr. Closely printed in small type.

*JAMES, Prf. Wm. [Am.] The Principles of Psychology, 2 vols. $6 Holt, N.Y. / 25/- nt. Macmillan 90

A bk. for the advanced student and teacher. Probably the most thorough and original treatise on psychol. written in Engl. since SPENCER'S Princ. of Psychol. [(55) 81. ut B.B. C § 62]. Regards psychol. as a branch of positive general knowledge, accepting the broad distinctions of pract. experience. Its style is brilliant and sparkling, occas. even mirthful (as might be expected fr. a brother of Hy. JAMES, jun., the novelist) as well as profound. Its chief drawback is its piecemeal treatmt., due to its, out of the 28, chaps. having appeared previously (in whole or in pt.) in periodicals, and having been little, if at all, worked up. Very long quotations are incl. In spite of the length of the bk. (c. 1,400 pp.) Pleasure and Pain, and Moral and Æsth. feelings and judgmt. are not treated.

,, ,, Text Book of Psychology $1.60 Holt, N.Y. / 7/- nt. Macmillan 92

An abridgmt. of the Principles, contg. much of its pith, sometimes verbally the same, sometimes newly stated.

SHOUP, Prf. Frcs. A. [Am.] Mechanism and Personality: an outline of philosophy $1.30 12° Ginn, Boston 91

Metaphysical rather than psychol., as it purports to be. Regards psychol. as an introd. to philos., and comprehends ethics.

SULLY, Prf. Jas. The Human Mind: a text-book of psychology, 2 vols. 8° 21/- Longman / $5 Appleton, N.Y. 92

An expansion and further elaboration of the doctr. set forth in his Outl. of Psychol. [ut B.B. C § 71], much more space being given to the new developmts. of physiolog. and experim. psychol., to illns. of psychol. principles in the phenomena of racial and animal life, of insanity and hypnotism. The former bk. was elementary, and written w. spec. ref. to the theory of educ.; this is intended more espec. for students who already have some knowl. of psychol.

*ZIEHEN, Prf. Theod. Introduction to Physiological Psychology, tr. C. C. Van Liew+Dr. Otto Beyer; 21 ill. [Intro. Science Textbks.] c 8° 6/- Sonnenschein / $2.50 Macmillan, N.Y. 92

A masterly expos. of the scope and methods over the whole field of physiolog. psychol., on the lines of the English psychology of association as agst. the doctrines of WUNDT, now dominant in Germany. WUNDT'S auxiliary function of Apperception, whereby so many difficulties were "avoided," is thrown over, and its superfluity demonstrated. The basis of the work is strictly psycho-physical, its scheme being (1) Speculative Psychology, (2) Empirical Psychology, (a) Trancendental Psychol.: psychic processes not contingent on cerebral function, (b) Physiological Psychol.: psychic processes contingent on cerebral function (integral part: metric physiolog. psychol. = psycho-physics).

Genius.

LOMBROSO, Prf. Cesare The Man of Genius [tr.]; ill. [Contemp. Science Ser.] c 8° 3/6 Walter Scott / $1.25 Scribner, N. Y. 91

Regards genius, and even talent, as a disease, every mind diverging fr. the common order being apparently ipso facto insane. Capably written, but his theory is overdone.

NISBET, J. F. The Insanity of Genius and the General Inequality of Human Faculty physiol. considered 6/– c 8° Ward & Downey [89] 93

The author's standpt. is that genius, like "insanity, idiocy, scrofula, rickets, gout, consumption," etc., is a morbid form, differing fr. insanity not in kind nor even in degree, but rather in respect of the cerebral areas unduly excited. The bk. is very "readable," being full of examples of neuropathic incidents taken fr. the lives of remarkable men and deviations fr. the norm, in the bodily or mental hist. of their ancestors. This inductive survey occupies ab. two-thirds of the wk., the remaining third contg. a descr. of the physical basis of mind, a crit. of phrenology and an exam. of heredity in rel. to genius.

History of Æsthetics.

*BOSANQUET, Dr. Bern. A History of Æsthetic [Library of Philosophy] 8° 10/6 Sonnenschein / $2.75 Macmillan. N. Y. 92

A very important and learned wk., dealing critically w. theories of beauty from SOCRATES to Wm. MORRIS and the progressive developmt. of the working idea of beauty in the hist. of Fine Art, showing how great changes in the conditions of life have affected this developmt. It is masterly in systematization and highly suggestive, but difficult reading owing to its philosophic terminology, wh. has been rendered necessary by the acuteness of the author's refinements and the closeness of his reasoning. Pp. xxiii, 502, w. index.

A socialistic prophetic sketch, picturing an ideal commonwealth in the yr. 2000. Excited a great deal of popular interest on its appearance, 350,000 copies having, it is stated, been sold in America dur. its first 2 years, and a Bellamy club having been formed at Boston to propagate its "principles." It may even be said to have given rise to the "Nationalist Movement" there.

HERTZKA, Dr. Theodor Freeland : a social anticipation, tr. Arthur Ransom c 8° 6/- Chatto / $1 Appleton, N.Y. 91

GONNER, Prf. E. C. K. Political Economy [elementary] 2/- c 8° Sutton 90

GUNTON, Geo. [Am.] Principles of Social Economics $1.75 (7/6) c 8° Putnam 91

Inductively considered and practically applied, with criticisms of current theories. 1. Princ. of Soc. Progress, 2. Econ. Production, 3. Econ. Distrib., 4. Pract. Statesmanship. Defines social progress as lying in an ever-increasing consumption of wealth by the masses, no great industrial enterprizes being likely to be very successful unless catering for the multitude. "Progress in politics and society is marked by the "tendency to increase the sovereignty of the individual and diminish the arbitrary authority of the State by establishing greater democracy of administration." In economics it is the "tendency to centralise industrial administration and responsibility, de-individualise the labourer as a producer, and socialise the results in better and cheaper products."

LAUGHLIN, J. Laur. [Am.] Elements of Political Economy [popular and elem.; w. questions] $1.50 12° Appleton, N. Y. 87

LIBERATORE, F'r. Principles of Political Economy, tr. E. H. Dering 7/6 8° Art & Bk. Co., Leamington 91

MARX, Karl — Capital [tr.]—ut B.B. D § 118.

Aveling, Dr. Edw. — The Student's Marx — [Social Science Ser.] c 8° 2/6 Sonnenschein, $1 Scribner, N.Y. — 92

*MARSHALL, Prf. Alf. — Principles of Economics, vol. i. — [in 2 vols.] 12/6 nt. ($3) 8° Macmillan [90] 91

Of capital importance. Regarding econ. laws and reasonings as merely pt. of the material wh. conscience and "common-sense" have to turn to account in solving practical problems, it reconstructs the whole body of doctrines on broader grounds, giving special prominence not only to the ethical quality of motives, but also to sagacity, energy and enterprize. Displays a rare power of lucid exposition and a profound grasp of econ. theory, alike in its histor. devel. and its pract. applications. The most important book on economics since MILL'S Principles [1848; ut B.B. D § 114].

„ „ — Elements of Economics, vol i. Elements of Economics of Industry — 3/6 ($1) c 8° Macmillan — 92

An abridgment by way of omission rather than compression of the above, w. addition of a chap. on Trades Unions.

MILL, Jno. Stuart [1806–73] Principles of Polit. Economy [1848], abgd. J. Laur. Laughlin [Am.] — $3.50 8° Appleton, N.Y. — 84

A good abridgment for Amer. students of what COSSA calls "even now the best English treatise on economics," w. ample notes incorp. in the text, a series of exam. questions, maps and diagrams.

de MOLINARI, G. — Religion, tr. Walt. K. Firminger — 2/6 Sonnenschein, $1 Macmillan, N.Y. — 94

Traces the progressive development of religious feeling in strict conn. w. the econ. evolution of society. Strongly anti-socialistic.

NEWCOMB, Simon [Am.] Principles of Political Economy — [elaborate and scientific] $2.50 8° Harper, N.Y. — 86

NICHOLSON, Prf. J. Shield On the Principles of Political Economy, vol. i. — 8° 15/- Black, $3 nt. Macmillan, N.Y. — 93

Designed to cover the same ground as MILL [ut B.B. D § 114]. An independent and sober attempt to recast the subject in a systematic way in the light of the older doctrines and their later modifications. Largely made up of lecture notes, of which it bears traces.

PATTEN, Prf. Simon D. [Am.] The Theory of Dynamic Economics — $1. 12° Univ. of Penn., Phila. 93

Presents the classical theory in a new form. Nos. 10–11 of Political Economy and Public Law Series, pub. by Univ. of Pennsylvania.

PERRY, Prf. Arth. L. [Am.] The Principles of Political Economy — [v. B.B. D § 115 note] p 8° $2 Scribner, N.Y. 9/- Paul — 91

Discards the term "Wealth," and makes "Value" the subject of the science. Free Trade. Illustrations chiefly fr. Amer. life, history and law—and the Bible.

RICARDO, Dav. [1772–1823] Principles of Polit. Econ. and Taxation [1846], tr. Prf. E. C. K. Gonner — c 8° 5/- Bohn's Lib., $1.50 Macmillan, N.Y. — 91

After passing through the periods of undiscriminating praise and reaction, this wk. of RICARDO (a retired banker) is now in that of reconsideration (witness Prf. A. MARSHALL in his Princ. of Economics, ut sup., where pains are taken to show how he has been grievously misunderstood). An excellent edn., provided with expos. and crit. Intro., notes and bibliogr. Though dry and ill put together, the bk. has exercised a powerful influence, chiefly owing to its theory of rent and doctrine of "comparative cost" (wh. is at the basis of internat. trade).

SHIRRES, L. P. — Analysis of the Ideas of Economics — 6/- c 8° Longman — 92

An attempt to clear away certain fogs from the ideas of "the dismal science," chiefly in matters of terminology and definition, w. good chaps. on Value, Money Market, Credit and Capital.

SMITH, R. M. [Am.] — Historical and Practical Political Economy — [Columbia Coll. System. Polit. Science, ut sup.] 8° Columbia Coll., N.Y. in prep.

An excellent little bk., intended for use in High Schools and Academies.

Abstract (Mathematical) Economics—for JEVONS and WICKSTEED v. B.B. D § 114.

*v. BÖHM-BAWERK, Prf. E. V. Capital and Interest: crit. hist. of econ. theory, tr. Wm. Smart — 12/- nt. ($4) 8° Macmillan 90

Austrian school of economy. Forms the Intro. to his Positive Theory of Capital. It is a complete register of all the ideas wh. have been promulgated by previous writers on the subject, and conts. a new theory of his own by the learned author. A profound and original work, dealing not only with Capital and Interest, but w. other econ. subjects.

* „ „ — The Positive Theory of Capital, tr. Wm. Smart — 12/- nt. ($4) 8° Macmillan 91

Its princ. contrib. to econ. science is its refutation of the pet Socialistic dogma which reduces the function of capital to the "exploitation of labour" by means of an oppressive tax (=interest) on the fruits of industry, and its philosophic analysis of bargains rel. to future goods. Both excellently tr. by Wm. SMART, who acts as a sort of junior counsel, not infrequently improving upon his instructions.

SMART, Wm. — An Introduction to the Theory of Value — 3/- nt. ($1.25) c 8° Macmillan — 91

A sort of appendix to the author's tr. of BÖHM-BAWERK, ut sup., giving a summary of the doctrines enunciated by MENGER and JEVONS, and worked out by WIESER and BÖHM-BAWERK. For a (bolder and more independent) expos. of JEVONS v. Rev. P. H. WICKSTEED'S Alphabet of Polit. Econ., ut B.B. A § 114.

v. WIESER, Prf. Fried. — Natural Value, tr. [Mrs.] Christian A Mallock, ed. Wm. Smart — 10/- nt. ($3.25) 8° Macmillan — 93

The latest developmt. of JEVONS' marginal utility theory of value, seeking to show that the laws of value in the modern industrial state are, fundamentally, natural laws, wh. would reappear in a perfect or a communistic state, and conseq. that rent and interest are not phenomena induced by an artificial state of society, but essentially economic.

„ „ — The Theory of Value [Am. tr.] — 25*c.* 8° Amer. Acad. of Pol. and Soc. Sci., Phila. 92

A reply (contg. little that is new) to some criticisms made by Prf. MACVANE [Am.], of Harvard, on the Austrian Economists, of whom Prf. WIESER is one, the spec. quest. in discussion bg. the rel. betw. marginal utility and cost of production.

Good essays on Adam SMITH, CAIRNES, J. S. MILL, Taxation, Prices, etc. Represents in England the historical school and the "professional socialists" of Germany.

MALLET, Sir Louis Free Exchange: papers on polit. and econ. subjects, ed. Bernhard Mallet 12/- 8° Paul 91
Pt. i.: Polit. Opinions of Cobden, Policy of Commerc. Treaties, Free Trade and Free Enterprise, State Railways., Egypt, Letter to Laveleye, Reciprocity, Bimetallic Theory, Natl. Income and Taxn.; ii. (posth. pub.): Law of Value and Theory of Unearned Increment, The Shattered Science, Value, Natural Monopolies, The Unearned Increment. The views expressed throughout are those of a Free Trader in the broadest sense of that term, who considered the policy of Free Trade to be something more than a policy of tariff reform. The bk. was a distinct bid for the solution of the social problem—as opposed to the socialistic solution of that problem, and has a distinct value as giving a fuller and more compreh. view of the opinions of the Manchester School than has ever before been put forth. Like Cobden, Sir L. M. lays spec. stress on foreign competition.

Shifting and Incidence of Taxation.

SELIGMAN, Prf. E. R. A. [Am.] Shifting and Incidence of Taxation 8° $1 Amer. Econ. Ass., Baltim., 2/6 Sonnenschein 92

A comprehensive review of this difficult question. By "shifting" a tax is meant the act of the person upon whom it is in the first instance levied, by which he recoups himself at the expense of another in the course of their business transactions. By "incidence" is meant the striking of the tax upon the person who, unable to shift it upon anyone else, finds himself obliged to pay it himself.

Report from the Select Committee on Town Holdings

The evidence of Sidney WEBB, who makes out a strong case for the occupier, is valuable, though it is probably exaggerated.

SARGANT, Chas. Hy. Urban Rating 6/- 8° Longman 90

An inquiry into the incidence of local taxation in towns, w. refer. to proposals for change, attempting to show that under the present system the incidence of rates is mainly on the owner and not on the occupier. Very numerous other pamphlets and booklets have appeared on both sides of the question: this is perhaps the best.

ARLIDGE, J. T. The Hygiene of Occupations 21/- nt. 8° Rivington & Perc. 92
Elucidates and illustrates the truth that occupations react upon the mental and corporal condn. of workers. The instances quoted cover a wide field, all the principal occupns. in Engl. bg. dealt with, and their statistics given. A final chap. is devoted to the Hygienic aspect of the question, methods of prevention, etc.

Relation of Wages and Hours to Production.

*BRENTANO, Prf. L. Hours and Wages in rel. to Production [tr.], ed. W. T Arnold [Soc. Sci. Ser.] c 8° 2/6 Sonnenschein / $1 Scribner, N.Y. 93
Shows that the raising of the worker's standard of living under existing circumstances stimulates him to greater and more careful exertion dur. his shorter hrs. of wk., and that, w. the devel. of his wants, the stimulus to production has, from 17 cent., become more and more active, till in our own days the seeming paradox is realized of production being cheapest and most efficient precisely in these countries in wh. wages are highest and hours shortest. Characterized by extreme clearness of style and fulness of historical detail.

Economical Works.

ARGYLL, Dke. of The Unseen Foundations of Society 18/- 8° Murray [93] 93
An interesting, but somewhat diffuse and ill-ordered bk., championing the landlords. Claims to be "an examination of the Fallacies and Failures of Econ. Science due to Neglected Elements," analyzing wealth as (1) the possession [one of the "neglected elements"] (2) in comparative abundance (3) of things (4) which are objects of desire (5) not obtainable without sacrifice or exertion (6) and wh. are accessible to men able as well as anxious to acquire them. Incl. acc. of the feudal system and the substitution of rent for pers. services, criticizes the Ricardian theory of rent and that of the Wages Fund, and discourses on the working of econ. laws in our day.

A bad tr. of a compact little treatise [Das Arbeitsverhältniss gemäss d. heutigen Recht (6*m*. 8° Duncker, Leipz. '73), wh. conts. all the main positions of the author of the famous Die Arbeitergilden der Gegenwart, 2 vols. (12*m*. 8° Duncker, Leipz. '71; '72), whose strength lies in his sturdy commonsense rather than his up-to-date histor. knowledge. Regards Trades Unions as an inevitable outcome of modern industrial condns., furnishing, as they do, a hope that the position of the masses may be improved without a violent reconstruction of society. The Arbeitergilden was written when the author was 25 yrs. old, and at once placed him in the front rank of political economists of the day. Its spec. originality consisted in its applic. to Trades Unions of the historic method wh. has yielded such valuable results on various economic questions and its consequent tracing of their pedigree in the Teutonic world far back into the Mid. Ages, showing the analogy of the social movemts. of to-day w. those of former days.

A thoroughly sound piece of work, the first formal attempt with any systematic method since BRENTANO'S Hist. of Guilds to deal w. the place in mediæval civil life of almost all Engl. towns occup. by the trade gilds. Eccles. and social gilds (w. wh. Engl. had little to do) are not treated, but craft-gilds are incidentally discussed. To the acc. of the Gild Merchant several essays are added by way of Appendix (The Affiliation of Mediæval Boroughs and others almost equally valuable); and the second vol. is filled w. "proofs and illustrations," i.e. a series of documents extr. fr. public records, notices in county histories, charters, compotus accounts, etc. The two most import. chaps., Distinction betw. Gild and Borough and Influence of the Gild upon Municipal Constitution, clearly prove that the Gild fr. the very beginning was a separate entity, not to be confounded w. the Borough. BUCHANAN, Rob. The Coming Terror: and other Essays and letters 8° 12/6 8° Heinemann [91] 91 / $2.50 U.S. Book Co., N.Y. 91

A reprint of newsp. letters, having a common object, viz. to exhibit and denounce the var. phases of the "coming terror," wh. appears to be the "submergence of indiv. freedom and activity beneath the waves of polit and social anarchy"—special terrors bg. the polit. tyranny of majorities, espionage in all the affairs of life, Trades Unionism, the New Socialism, the New Journalism, the new ethics ("scientific, Saturnine yet Puritanical"), the new jurisprudence. While rejecting the New Socialism, the author claims to be a true Socialist, "a man eager for the common good," which "can only be attained by complete freedom."

CUNNINGHAM, Prf. W. The Path towards Knowledge 4/6 c 8° Methuen 91

LAING, Sam. Problems of the Future; and other essays 3/6 8° Chapman [89] 90

LILLY, W. S. On Shibboleths 12/- 8° " 92

Mr. LILLY'S seven "shibboleths" are Progress, Liberty, the People, Public Opinion, Education, Women's Rights and Supply and Demand. Interesting essays, pointedly and forcibly stated; but unhappily the author, a Roman Catholic in belief, training and culture, is a true Sophist in the Platonic sense: having the appearance of knowledge without the reality of it (the title itself uses the word "shibboleths" in a wrong sense).

Forecast.

PEARSON, Dr. Chas. H. National Life and Character: a forecast 10/- nt. ($4) 8° Macmillan 93

A very striking yet very depressing bk. by an Oxford man; some time Minister of Educ. in Victoria, yet no believer in Progress as ordin. understood. Seeks to shew that the social and intell. forces at wk. amg. the higher races of mankind are tending and will increasingly tend tow. a state of equilibrium (rather than an ever-expanding and ever-brightening ideal), owing to the adoption of State Socialism, wh. ultimately will prevail everywhere, favoured by the general extension of milit. service and the growth of large towns; and that, tho' the new society will gain by an increased patriotism, family-life will be to a large extent broken up and individual character lose in self-reliance more than it gains in sobriety.

BALMFORTH, Ramsden The New Reformation and its rel. to Moral and Soc. Problems [Soc. Sci. Ser.] c 8° 2/6 Sonnenschein / $1 Scribner, N.Y. 93

Lassalle, Ferd. [1825–1864].
Bernstein, Edw. Ferdinand Lassalle as a Social Reformer [tr.] [Social Science Ser.] c 8° 2/6 Sonnenschein / $1 Scribner, N.Y. 93

Serves as a useful complement to Dawson's book, ut infra. Author is a thorough-going Social Democrat and a "philosophic Socialist," who here seeks to shew that Lassalle did not differ fundamentally fr. Marx and his followers. To non-socialists the chief pt. in the bk. is the author's practical abandonmt. of Marx's theory of value, wh. is a deduction fr. Ricardo's (wh., it is now tolerably well established, is wrong).

Dawson, Wm. H. German Socialism and Ferdinand Lassalle [Social Science Ser.] c 8° 2/6 Sonnenschein / $1 Scribner, N. Y. [88] 91

*Conway, Moncure D. [Am.] The Life of Thos. Paine, 2 vols. ; ill. [for his Writings v. D § 139] $5 (25/–) 8° Putnam 92

A history of his career—literary, political and religious—in England, France and America. Incl. a sketch of Paine by Wm. Cobbett [hitherto unpub.]. Overzealous to present its subject as a hero, tho' clearly shows that he was not the vulgar, dissolute, blasphemous and unscrupulous "Tom Paine" of popular tradition.

England: Generally.

*GRAHAM, Prf. W. Socialism: new and old [Internat. Scientific Series] c 8° 5/- Paul [91] 91 / $1.75 Appleton, N.Y. 91

Historical and critical, "from Moses to Marx." The histor. pt. is distinctly inferior to John RAE'S [ut inf.], and even to Prf. de LAVELEYE'S [ut B.B. D § 126]; but the criticism is good, and the attempt to conceive how things wd. constit. themselves under a collectivist regime—an exercise of the scientific imagination hitherto seriously attempted only by SCHAEFFLE [ut B.B. D § 126] and GRONLUND [ut ibid.]—is valuable. A candid study of "the truth in Socialism."

*KIRKUP, Thos. A History of Socialism 6/- c 8° Black 92

*SIDGWICK, Prf. Hy. The Elements of Politics 14/– nt. ($4) 8° Macmillan 91

Avowedly constructed on the lines of Bentham and Mill, it expounds, in as systematic a form as the subject-matter (at present) admits of, the chief general considerations that enter into the rational discussion of political questions in modern states (jurisprud., art of legisln., international morality and constit. law or politics in its restricted sense). A most important work, at once luminous, profound and stimulating. SIDGWICK, before all things a moralist, treats politics as a theory not of what is but of what should be.
